THE GOVERNOR'S ADDRESS. The President was followed by Governor McSweeny, who prefaced his prepared speech by a few words in which he assured the President that he was as safe from bodily harm in South Carolina as he was in Washington, Continuing, he said:

"The Anglo-Saxon is entering the new century with the imperial crown of the ages on his brow and the sceptre of the infinite in his hands. General Smith and his party of twelve officers left their arms five miles below the place where the conference was held. Knowing that the insurgents were short of food, the Americans carried presents of potatoes and hardtack with them. Great preparations had been made to receive General Smith and his party, dock in the river had been especially built and two triumphal arches were erected Two hundred insurgent troops presented arms when the American officers landed, General Guevarra and fourteen officers received them. A banquet was served with cloth napkins and additional adjuncts of 48 civilization. The insurgent general apologized for the scarcity of food. The principal dishes at the banquet were chicken and the meat of the water buffalo. General Smith gave Guevarra permission to purchase rice for the use of the insurgent troops.

Our presence in the islands, he said, was, to his mind, a process of spontaneous evolution, and added that he believed a permanent occupation was a necessary consequence, the logical sequence of our national prosperity, and, he added, that to doubt this is to doubt the wisdom of our institutions. We should, he went on, regard ourselves as a people as the custodians of an imperishable idea, held in trust for mankind, and we would proclaim this message to the world. He also expressed the opinion that the Filipinos could rapidly organized into political bodies and said they were eager to secure educational facilities. He said that because of his nion that the Philippines afford splendid pportunities for the dissemination of American ideas. He had decided when he assumed command at Manila to conduct military operations with a drastic hand, while he at the same time tried to give them the most enlightened civil government wherever opportunity afforded. Senator Carmack also asked about the exploitation of the material resources of the islands and General MacArthur replied that one of the great apprehensions of the people was that they might be deprived of these resources, and thus relegated to a position of social inferiority in the islands. On this point, he said, they were very sensitive. They did not, he said, care so much for their treatment outside the Islands, but were very particular on the point of social equality when in their own country.

In reply to a question from Senator Culberson General MacArthur declined to institute a comparison between the Filipinos and the American negro, "The Filipinos are pretty good people," he said, "but I have never had occasion to compare them with other people, and I don't want to attempt such a comparison, which might be unjust to both "Do you not think," Senator Carmack asked, "that the Filipinos ought to have a voice in their governmental affairs,

One must recall that they will have to undergo a most radical change in all their ideas. The Filipino conception of independence means license to do as he pleases, according to his strength | ALLEGED SCHEME OF THE ROCHESand means. They have no other ideas of government than those gained from the centuries of Spanish misrule and plunder. Should the American troops be withdrawn there would follow a war of extermination among themselves, meaning not a survival of the fittest, but of the strongest. With the development, however, of the present work of pacification and material welfare it will be our fault if within the next twenty years the islands are not absolutely orderly, contented and blossoming as the rose. This and the abolishment of the Spanish practice of extortion were amazing to the natives. The people had been bled so long that they could not understand how it was possible to maintain a government upon any other basis. I believe, however, that the Filipinos will finally come to understand the character of the American occupation and that peace, prosperity and contentment will come to the islands under American sovereignty.

WASHINGTON, April 8,-The House bill establishing civil government in the Philippines was finally perfected to-day by the Republican members of the insular committee and in its complete form was reintroduced by Chairman Cooper, There is little doubt that it will be reported to the House by the full committee, probably tomorrow, and in the form Mr. Cooper introduced it to-day.

The House bill is unlike that of the Senate in that it provides a complete form of civil government for the islands, to go into effect when the war terminates, the provising insurrection in the Philippines shall have ceased and a condition of general and complete peace shall have been established | ness in Punxsutawney. therein, and the facts shall be certified to the President by the commission, the President shall authorize the commission to call a general election for the choice of delegates to a popular assembly of the people of the Philippine islands to be known as the Philippine assembly.'

nouses—the Philippine commission and the Philippine assembly. Provision is made for taking the census within thirty days after the promulgation of peace. Thereafter the islands are to be divided into election districts and the regular machinery for electing the legislature is provided.

Section 12 of the bill provides that all residents of the Philippines shall have the same protection from the United States in their relations to foreign governments as is accorded to citizens of the United States. For the purchase of the friar lands the bill makes provision for the issuance of insular bonds at 5 per cent. interest, payable in gold, the total amount not being specified. The regulation of frachises, timber lands, mineral lands, etc., is provided for. The system of coinage differs from that in the Senate bill, as it makes gold the standard, with Philippine token money of silver maintained at a parity with gold The peso is to be of silver. It will equal our silver dollars in size and be worth half as much.

Taft has been released from the hospital and has been walking out and attending to correspondence at the house of his brother, Charles P. He expects now to be able to go to St. Louis on the 15th or 16th of April to consuit with the officers of the St. Louis exposition concerning an exhibit from the Philippine islands. He will return to Cincinnati, and after spending a day or two here will go to Washington and be there until after the return of Secretary Root from Cuba. He will spend several days there in consultation with the secretary of war and the President. When that work is concluded he will spend a day or two in Cincinnati and then return to his responsible work in the Philippines. Governor Taft to-day sent to Washington to the Senate committee on the situation in the Philippines an answer to the charge made in the committee yesterday by Senator Culberson, of Texas, that the Governor had withheld certain reports in his testimony before the committee and says that the charge is untrue. The report is said to contain severe reflections on the conduct of military affairs in the province of Tayabas. It is accompanied by a statement from Governor Taft explaining why he had not felt at liberty to tell the committee about the Tayabas report when he was giving his testimony about Philippine affairs. ## Morgan May Race the Columbia.

QUEENSTOWN, April 8 .- The delegation from Cork, headed by the lord mayor of that city, which purposed meeting J. P. Morgan when the White Star liner Oceanic arrived here to-day to urge him to send the Columbia to Cork harbor to compete in the forthcoming contests for the King's cup, missed the tender and was, therefore, unable to board the Oceanic. The delegation, however, interviewed Mr. Morgan from the deck of a special tug. Mr. Morgan, leaning over the rail of the Oceanic, asked a number of questions concerning the details of the regatta, and promised to take up the matter in London. He said he would do his best to insure the presence of the Columbia at Cork during the races.
